FBI JAILS 18 IN SPY RING ROUND-UP

22 Of Total Of 29 Held Are Native Of Germany; Three Women In Custody

NEW YORK, (UP)—Eighteen persons suspected of espionage for Germany, rounded up during the week-end by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents after two years of counter-espionage, were to be arraigned today.

They and 11 others arrested elsewhere or already in jail, reportedly directed by Frederick Joubert Dognesne, a 64-year-old man of mystery once involved in a murder charge for espionage in the world war, comprised what FBI agents declared was the "greatest spy ring ever uncovered in this country."

They were said to have gathered information on ship movements to Great Britain, on United States defense production and on the development of new and secret military equipment in this country, and to have transmitted their discoveries to a foreign power, unnamed but obviously Germany, since that is the native country of 22 of the prisoners.

One of them, Everett Minster Rode, an engineer and designer, a native of New York and one of the few American-born prisoners, was employed by the Sperry Gyroscope Corporation, makers of the bomb sight formerly used on the United States warplanes but recently turned over to Britain after an improved type was developed for this country.

Another was Axel Wheeler-Hill, brother of James Wheeler-Hill, a former chief aide to Fritz Kuhn, the German-American Bund leader who is in prison for larceny.

Three of the 29 were women. In addition to the 18 arrested here, four were seized in New Jersey, one in Michigan and one in Wisconsin. Of the five in jail, four had been charged with violating the federal registration act and one, Rene Mezenen, a steward on Pan-American Airways trans-Atlantic clippers, had been arrested June 5 charged with smuggling platinum to Portugal.

Of the five already in custody, including Mezenen, four were arrested in New York and one in California, all on other charges. Bertram Wolfgang Zenzinger of Tanager, Calif., was arrested in Los Angeles last April for violating the alien registration act and is serving 18 months in a California prison.

Summer Arrives And 36 Drown

Temperatures Climb Into 90s From Rocky Mountains To Atlantic Coast

Maximum temperature up to 92 o'clock Monday afternoon was 92 degrees, which was the highest of the season to date. The minimum Sunday night was 45 degrees. This is according to James Winsted, local P. G. & E. Weather Bureau observer.

By UNITED PRESS

A layer of hot, humid air boosted air temperatures into the 90s today from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic seaboard.

Thousands of persons went to the beaches and at least 36 were drowned in 12 states. Twelve other deaths were attributed to heat and four to lightning.

Maximum official temperature reported by the Weather Bureau yesterday was 99 at Blythe, Calif., Phoenix, Ariz., and Carbondale, Ill.

FARM POWER DISCUSSED

Rescue Area And District Westerly Launches Move At Schoolhouse Conference

Approximately thirty persons attended a meeting at the Liveoak school on Friday evening for a discussion looking toward obtaining electric power for the homes of the Rescue, Deer Valley and Salmon Falls sections.

The meeting had been called by a committee of the Rescue farm center, including Fred Wessels, John Sandson and Vinton Veerkamp. Mr. Wessels presided as the chairman of the meeting and Mrs. Vinton Veerkamp was named as secretary for the meeting.

Conclusions of the evening were that a future meeting will be held at a date yet to be designated. At this meeting it is hoped that the Rural Electrification Administration will be represented and it is also hoped that there will be available the results of a survey in support of the project, to be made by the Pacific Gas & Electric Company.

The company was represented at the meeting by Kenneth Rigby, of the Sacramento division offices. Mr. Wessels spoke with regard to his understanding of what the REA might be able to do to further the project.

It was apparent that there are between fifty and sixty homes in the area to be served and that these would require twenty to twenty-five miles of line.

It was reported that the power company had estimated the cost of such a line at $1,000 per mile and Mr. Wessels reported that a private contractor had estimated that the line could be built for about half that figure, if residents of the area would cut and set their own poles.

PLACERVILLE NATIVE, RESIDENT AT MILLS, DIED ON SUNDAY

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday at the Andrews & Grelich mortuary chapel, 28th and W Streets in Sacramento, for Samuel M. Wornock, 85, a native of Placerville, who died on Sunday at a Sacramento rest home. The service will be conducted by the Rev. Clarence A. Kirchner, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, in Sacramento, of which Mr. Wornock had long been a member. Burial will be at East Lawn.

Mr. Wornock had lived at Mills Station, Sacramento County, most of his adult life and engaged in farming there over a fifty-year period.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ida R. Wornock, and two daughters, Mrs. Vivian Patterson, of Oakland, and Mrs. Lillian Johnson, of Mills.

Dr. William B. Schneider was home from his Army station at Santa Barbara to attend the funeral services on Saturday for his grandfather, James Barkley.

Ed. Morey was among those in town Monday from Grizzly Flat.

Mrs. Duncan Bathurst and Mrs. Mary Seombe left Sunday for a visit at San Anselmo with Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes.

George Eberhard was in town from Cool Monday morning.

Egbert Veerkamp was a Monday caller from Missouri Flat.

DECORATIONS JUDGING ON THURSDAY

$40 In Cash Awards To Be Made By Civic Committee In Patriotic Contest

The civic committee sponsoring the patriotic decorations contest arranged in connection with the July 4 holiday pointed out Monday morning that the contest will be judged on Thursday afternoon, July 3.

A total of $40 in prizes will be distributed, divided equally between the winners in two divisions of the contest, one for residences and the other for business places.

Ten dollars will go to the first place winners, six dollars to the second place winners, three dollars to the third place winners and one dollar to the fourth place winners.

It is not necessary that any formal entry in the contest be filed. Informed that there is impression about that the committee expects that professional decorators may be employed to prepare entries for the contest, a committee spokesman denied that anything of the nature is intended.

"If someone wants to go to that expense, I suppose it is his own business," the committeeman said. "However, the committee has had nothing like that in mind. What is desired is a general participation in patriotic decoration, just as some of us decorate our stores and our homes at the Christmas season."

"Almost anyone can use bunting and crepe paper to advantage in arranging decorations and these may be obtained reasonably and may be put up by one's self without elaborate financial outlay."

It will be of special interest to those planning to take part in the contest to know that the committee of judges will inspect various decorations on Thursday afternoon, and will hope that the decorations may be left in place during the holiday weekend.

Bowlers Close Tournament

Awards To Be Presented Tuesday Night During Softball Session

To the victors belongs the spoils, and they'll get 'em Tuesday night when the bowlers have their night at the softball games at Marcus P. Bennett, Jr., Memorial Park.

The curtain ran down on the county bowling championships at the Pearl Bowl Friday night and the champions are:

Team—Murrays; Caldor second; Doubles—Vern Bartell and Leo Barrett (1414); N. Wade and El Collins (1299) second;

Singles—R. A. Patterson (695); E. Hanley, (683) second;

All events—E. Hanley (1974); Leo Barrett (1963) second;

Individual high score from scratch—Leo Barrett (244).

The doings Tuesday night will open with a softball game between two teams of bowlers, recruited by L. J. Anderson and Russell Anderson.

After this game, the bowling awards will be presented in a brief ceremony at home plate.

Following the ceremonies, the Colored Ghosts will play an exhibition game with a team picked from the league players.

2 SACRAMENTANS FIND WAY TO CAMP AFTER BEING LOST IN DESOLATION

If Uncle Sam intends Desolation Valley to be a "perpetual wilderness," it is probable that the goal has been achieved as far as two Sacramento firemen are concerned.

The two, Eugene A. Steffany and Joseph Orlich, were members of a fishing party on the Desolation Valley primitive area on Wednesday of last week and wandered away from the rest of the party in their eagerness to catch plenty of fish.

Came night-time and they couldn't find their way back and so sought shelter in an abandoned cabin, finding their way out the next morning just about the time their companions had organized a posse.

The two, Eugene A. Steffany and Joseph Orlich, were members of a fishing party on the Desolation Valley primitive area on Wednesday of last week and wandered away from the rest of the party in their eagerness to catch plenty of fish.

Boy, 12, Gets Life

Prison for the rest of his life is the fate of Robert Messex, 12. The boy was sentenced to life imprisonment in Waynesboro, Ga., for the fatal shooting of his father in revenge for a whipping.

WM. J. DAVEY IS SUMMONED

County Native Succumbs Sunday Midnight At San Francisco Hospital

William J. Davey, 76, a native and lifelong resident of El Dorado County, passed away Sunday night at a hospital in San Francisco where he had been under treatment for seven weeks.

The funeral arrangements will be concluded with the assistance of Memory Chapel, in whose care the body is being returned today from San Francisco.

Mr. Davey's health had not been good for several months past and seven weeks ago Sunday he sought special treatment at San Francisco. During his hospitalization, two operations were performed in an effort to restore his health. His condition had continued serious for the past several weeks although his strength had rallied from time to time to give hope of his ultimate recovery.

Mr. Davey was born in the Jones Hill district, near Georgetown, on October 20, 1864. In earlier life he made Georgetown his home and drove stage between that place and the county seat. It was there, on October 7, 1900, he married Hattie Crawford.

Following his work as stage driver, Mr. Davey was engaged in mining in the Kelsey vicinity and the family resided there for several years, moving to Garden Valley about twenty-three years ago when Mr. Davey became interested in mining in that section.

Following a fire which destroyed their home last September, Mr. and Mrs. Davey moved to Placerville and purchased of Mr. and Mrs. Burwell Reynolds their duplex home on Canal Street.

Mr. Davey was a member of the I. O. O. F. Lodge at Georgetown. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Hattie Crawford Davey, and by seven children, who are, Hazel Davey, Mrs. Florence Sweeney and Mrs. Mabel Calvin, of Placerville; Elsie Salinas; Mrs. Mildred Murray, of Chico; and Arthur Davey, of Camp San Luis Obispo.

He is also survived by one brother, John Davey, of Carson City, Nevada, and by four grandchildren.

"SOME PROGRESS BEING MADE" IN GARDEN VALLEY INVESTIGATION

With the comment that "some progress is being made" in the investigation, Sheriff George M. Smith reported Monday morning that there is little to report at this time on the finding of a skeleton in a mine shaft in the Garden Valley district last week.

Foul play was suspected in the death of the man, whose remains were found stuffed behind the ladder in the forty-foot shaft about 23 feet from the surface by a crew of workmen engaged in opening up the old workings.

It was understood that the sheriff and Deputy Euell Y. Gray spent some time in the district during the weekend and that circumstances have been found which indicate a certain period of months during which the body, by one means or another, was put into the shaft and covered up.

George Klare was a caller Saturday from Aukum.

Hector Williamson, of Springvale, was doing business in the county seat Monday morning.

Mrs. Lottie Galleher was in town Monday morning from Lotus.

Mrs. T. R. Schneider has returned from an extended visit in Oakland and is much improved in health.

750,000 WILL REGISTER ON TUESDAY

Seven County Offices To Assist In Sign-Up For Selective Service

Men who are expected under the law to register Tuesday in Selective Service will have seven offices in El Dorado County where they may enroll.

The offices are: At the selective service headquarters on Main Street opposite the Empire theater, in Placerville; and at Youngs Post Office; Fairplay Post Office; Kyburz Post Office; Pomini's Resort; Bijou Post Office at Young Brothers Resort; and the Georgetown Post Office.

WASHINGTON, (UP)—An estimated 750,000 young men of 21 will register for selective service tomorrow, and a large proportion of them will fill the 900,000 - man quota set by President Roosevelt for the new fiscal year.

The 6,406 draft boards throughout the country will register tomorrow all the young men who have become 21 since the first R-day last Oct. 16. At that time, more than 16,000,000 men from 21 to 35, inclusive, registered for possible service.

A high percentage of the 21-year-olds will be chosen for the army because they are in better physical condition than older men; because few of them have dependents that would cause deferments; and because of the new policy of automatic deferment of men 28 or older.

Mr. Roosevelt, in an executive order in "the national interest" announced at Hyde Park last night, authorized the army to induct 900,000 selectees from July 1, 1941, to June 30, 1942. This is the maximum that the law permits to be in service at any one time, and presumes that the 650,000 inducted thus far will be released as they complete their one year of training. Chief of staff George C. Marshall has indicated, however, that a few selectees may be retained longer in key units.

County Native Answers Call

Funeral Services For A. C. Poette Are Held At Santa Barbara

Funeral services were held at Santa Barbara on Wednesday, June 25th, for A. C. Poette, native of El Dorado County, who died at Los Angeles on June 23.

Mr. Poette was a brother of Mrs. Elizabeth Killough, of this city, and was born on the Killough ranch in the Cold Springs district on January 11th, 1862.

He also was a brother of Mrs. Laura Fields, of San Francisco; Mrs. Clara Moody, of Los Angeles, and Iven Poette, of Los Angeles, and Emory Poette, of Boise, Idaho.

Mr. Poette spent his early life on the home ranch and later moved to Oregon and thence to Idaho, where he was associated with his brother, Iven, in sheepraising. On returning to California he made his home at Santa Barbara.

He is survived by three sons, Marvin, Julian and Lewis, and by several nieces and nephews in addition to the brothers and sisters.

Leo Akin, as special administrator in the estate of D. J. Akin, deceased, has brought suit in Superior Court against J. C. Akin and others claiming $2,300 with interest at seven per cent as owing under the terms of a promissory note in that month dated June 29, 1934. One hundred sixty-four acres in the Mission Flat section secures the loan.

The coroner's office reports the death on June 28th, at Stateline, of Darlene Arradellasa, seven-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Arradellasa, of Reno, of a general spasm. The body was removed to Carson City and plans were made to hold funeral services on July 1 with interment at Al Tahoe cemetery.

William Martin was removed to Placerville Sanatorium Monday noon.

40TH DIVISION REVIEW JULY 4

Seventeen Thousand Troops Sweep Across Parade Ground In Friday Morning Spectacle

CAMP SAN LUIS OBISPO—Seventeen thousand steel-helmeted troops of the 40th Division will parade before Brigadier General E. J. Dawley, commander of the 40th Division, members of his staff in a division review on the new parade grounds at Camp San Luis Obispo at 10 o'clock Friday morning, July 4.

The public will be invited to attend the Independence Day ceremony, and bleachers will be erected at the reviewing stand for the accommodation of guests.

Lieut. Colonel Marvin C. Bradley, 40th Division plans and training officer, and Major Daniel H. Hudelson, his assistant, are mapping plans for the military spectacle.

The entire 40th Division, with the exception of a few special units, will be reviewed. Bands of each of the 10 regiments will play as the marching men and rolling guns move in formation before the commander.

The adjutants call will sound at 10 a. m., and all units of the division will be in position at that time. Brigadier General Harcourt Hervey, commander of the 65th Field Artillery Brigade, will be in command of the troops.

The new parade ground at camp is just being rolled into condition. It is roomy enough to provide ample space for ceremonies of the 40th Division.

By July 4 the 40th Division—composed of former National Guard units from California and Utah, will be nearly at full war-time strength. There have been almost daily arrivals of selectees from Camp Roberts, Camp Callan, and Camp Wolters, Texas, to bring the division to strength.

NAZIS CLAIM RED TROOPS TRAPPED

Rome Radio Reports Fall On Minsk, About 390 Miles From Moscow, Early Today

NEW YORK, (UP)—The Rome radio reported today that German motorized columns had occupied the Russian city of Minsk, 20 miles inside the pre-war borders of Russia, CBS said today.

By UNITED PRESS

Furious battles raged along Europe's 1,800-mile eastern front today for the ninth straight day. The Germans reported capture of Lwow and the Russians fought off heavy attacks from the Finnish border.

The great mechanized battle for Minsk still was undecided.

Perhaps the most important generalized report of the day came from the German high command and said that the Soviet armies on the central front, probably near Minsk were surrounded and that the noose was being drawn tight. Details were lacking, but failure of the Russians to escape might carry the Nazi forces a long step toward their goal of trapping and breaking up the main enemy fighting strength.

The German offensive, now in its second week, appeared behind schedule, but it had spread over one of history's longest fighting fronts with Nazi-Finnish attacks on the Karelian Isthmus toward Leningrad and from North Finland toward Murmansk.

All of the thrusts on the north front, including a sea attack on Viipuri, were thrown back behind the Finnish frontiers with heavy losses, Moscow reported. On the Baltic and central Polish fronts the Germans claimed continued progress and apparently had penetrated some 200 miles through Poland to Russia proper in the Minsk sector.

On the Baltic front, the German official news agency reported that a red army division had been encircled and that its "destruction" was certain. The Moscow communique merely said that stubborn fighting

Hoover Offers U. S. Program

Former President Calls For Hemisphere Defense, Aid To Britain, China

CHICAGO (UP)—Former President Herbert Hoover proposed a seven-point program last night to give the nation a "non-defeatist, non-isolationist and non-interventionist" policy toward the war.

In a radio address over the NBC Red network, he said it would be a travesty to enter the war to aid Russia, which he condemned as "one of the bloodiest tyrannies and terrors ever erected in history."

Hoover's program included: "Give every aid we can to Britain and China but do not put the American flag or American boys in the war zone."

"Arm to the teeth for defense of the western hemisphere and cease to talk and to provoke war until we are armed."

"Stop this notion of ideological war to impose the four freedoms on other nations by military force and against their will. Devote ourselves to improving the four freedoms within our borders that the light of their success may stir the people of the world to their adoption."

"We can hope a peace table will assemble some day, whether it be the result of stalemate or victory... when that day comes the other nations will be sufficiently exhausted to listen to the military, economic and moral powers of the United States."

CHAPTER XXXV

IT WAS well past midnight when Julie and Kenneth drew up before the Hamilton home.

Julie sat up with a little yawn. Her face was strained and pallid.

She said listlessly, "So we're home."

Kenneth put his arm about her. "Yes — home." He paused, then said, "Don't forget, Julie — I'll be standing by — any time you need me. Don't let this business get you down."

She smiled ruefully, and sighed again. "Thanks, Ken. And thanks for what you did for me tonight — getting me out of jail and all. I shan't forget it. You're — you're a pretty swell guy."

She impulsively leaned over and kissed him, then slipped out of the car and started up the walk toward the house.

He sat looking after her — noted that her shoulders were erect and her head held high. He sighed. Life took some cruel quirks sometimes. Julie let herself in with her latchkey. She slipped silently through the hall and mounted the stairs as quietly as possible.

Before leaving Atlanta, she had phoned her father that she was on her way home with Kenneth, but she doubted whether he had waited up for her. Reaching the second floor she saw through this open door that his room was dark. Yes, he was evidently in bed and asleep.

HOWEVER, as she was about to tip toe by, his voice suddenly halted her.

"Is that you, Julie?"

"Yes, Dad."

She entered his room, switched on the light, and went over to kiss him.

"Did you have a nice visit in the city?" he asked.

"Very nice, Dad," she lied.

"You didn't stay very long." He looked at her questioningly. "Sure you enjoyed yourself? I thought you'd be away at least a week."

That's what you told me. Nothing happened, did it, to make you shorten your stay?" His voice was anxious.

"Oh, I just decided that a little bit of city life went a long way."

"But it did me a lot of good — got me out of the dumps. That's all over. I'm turning over a new leaf."

"You'll see."

"I'm glad, daughter." Her father pressed her hand. "I was worried about you."

"I know. I've been an awful stick lately. But don't you worry about me any more. I'm all right now. The trip — woke me up."

She kissed him again, and left him.

IN HER own room, the first thing that caught her eye was a white envelope propped up on her dressing table. Across it was written, "Julie," in her mother's bold script.

She picked it up wonderingly

Why should Normandy be writing her a note? She tore it open and read:

Julie:—

I'm off, hurriedly, for Arizona to check the prospects of a gold mine on Barry Caldwell's ranch. As you know, I once prospected in that region. I didn't tell you but after Barry left I wrote to my former partner about a vein that we discovered years ago on the Bar-X but never ran down. From what he has written me, I have high hopes. Don't breathe a word to any one but I wanted you to know.

I have just learned you are off on a mysterious trip to Atlanta and I'm wondering if you've had some word about Barry. If you do find him let him know what I've just told you.

Yours in haste, and hopefully, Normy

A sharp pain stabbed at Julie's heart, as her lax fingers let the note flutter to the floor. She was glad, of course, for Barry's sake, but how much more this news would have meant to her if — if only things had turned out differently. If only he still loved her it would have meant the removal of the obstacle he had raised between them — his poverty. It would have meant the smoothing of the way for them. But now — now — no longer loved her. Whether he was rich or poor would make no difference.

IT WAS noon the next day before Julie awoke. She awoke with a sharp, nursing sense of desolation. Sitting up in bed, she stared dully down at Normandy's note, still lying on the floor. Poor Normy! How disgusted he would be when he returned to discover he had been on a wild goose chase as far as her happiness was concerned.

She dressed slowly, trying not to think. If only she could make her mind an utter blank.

She couldn't. The pain in her heart was too fresh, too poignant. Perhaps, later, she would be able to think about Barry without wishing she were dead.

She went downstairs and out into the bright sunlight of the front yard. Edith's voice hailed her from the Terry porch.

"Hello there, Julie. Come on over and tell me all the gossip from the big city."

Julie smiled and waved, then walked across the lawn, and slipped through the hedge that separated the two yards.

As Edith came down the steps to greet her a taxi from the station drove up and stopped in front of the house. Both girls turned curiously to see Isold climbing out of the car.

She said off the driver, then came sauntering languidly up the walk, a smug smile on her face.

"Well, girls—meet the new owner of the Bar-X ranch in old Arizona!"

She stopped before them and struck a dramatic pose.

Sparkling... Inviting... is this new Two-Tone JELLIED SOUP

by Dorothy Greig

JELLIED soups look so cool that the mere sparkling sight of them on the table is refreshing. Their delicately edgy flavor delights, too.

In beginning a meal with jellied soup, plan to have something hot as the following dish because, of course, no meal should consist of all cold food. We need hot food, for good digestion's sake. Besides the contrast of hot food following the jellied soup steps up even further the enjoyment of both. Nowadays serving jellied soup is no problem. Condensed consommé jells in the can when placed in the refrigerator; so do condensed consommé Madrilène and condensed consommé Printanier. Just whisk open the cans and tumble out the sparkling amber jelly.

But here's a little trick for those occasions when you feel a gala mood on the way. It consists of tomato jelly on the bottom of the cup and jellied consommé on top. The red shimmering through the amber of the consommé gives a truly enchanting two-tone effect. Put it together this way:

For the Tomato Jelly:
2 cups tomato juice
1/2 lemon, sliced
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon gelatine (softened in 1/4 cup cold water)
Combine tomato juice, sliced lemon, sugar and salt. Bring to boiling point and simmer for 10 minutes. Then strain over the softened gelatine, stir until gelatine is dissolved. Put in refrigerator and chill until stiff.

To serve: Fill chilled consommé cup 1/2 to 3/4 full of tomato jelly, then fill remainder of cup with jellied consommé Madrilène.

Gay Accents for Jellied Soups:

After condensed consommé has been jelled in the can in the refrigerator empty it into a bowl and gently mix through it—

2 tablespoons of finely chopped tomato and 1 teaspoon chopped chives

Or 1 tablespoon of finely chopped cucumber and 2 tablespoons tomato

Jellied condensed consommé Madrilène is another soup that becomes something very special indeed when accented this way. After it has been jelled empty it into a bowl and mix through it—

3 tablespoons of finely chopped fresh tomato

Or 4 tablespoons of finely chopped avocado

Or 2 tablespoons of chopped cucumber

Serve these soups in chilled cups with a wedge of lemon or lime.

Nazis Claim Minsk Fall

The Germans also claimed they had occupied Libau, a Russian naval base on the Latvia coast, but dispatches from Helsinki said the Russians still were holding out at Hango, the base they took from Finland after the 1939-40 war. Big guns were firing from Hango, at the western end of the Gulf of Finland, and red airplanes were aiding the defense by steady bombing, the dispatch said, but it did not indicate the nature of the attack on Hango.

On the vital central front, facing Minsk, the Germans were reported to have punched into Russia proper, about 390 miles from Moscow. Some axis-inspired rumors said Minsk had been occupied, but the war communiques indicated that the German panzer units were trying to outflank that communications center and that the battle still was in progress.

In the west, the Royal Air Force continued to hammer at German war centers and extended bold daylight raids to the docks and freight yards at Bremen and Oldenburg, in northwest Germany. Daylight attacks also were continued on the German-occupied European coast, with RAF pilots reporting comparatively weak nazi aerial resistance.

750,000 Register Under Draft Act

Pending in the house is a bill to put into law the new policy of automatic deferment of men who have reached the 28th birthday by July 1. It had been planned to have this enacted by tomorrow, but the crowded house schedule made action impossible until next week.

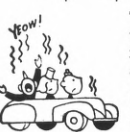

Officials said that a lottery to determine the order in which tomorrow's registrants will be subject to call probably will be held in about two weeks. They said the names of the new enrollees will be infused in existing registration lists rather than super-imposed, but the exact method has not yet been reached.

Registration centers will open at 7 a. m., and close at 9 p. m. Any men still in line at 9 p. m., must be registered, however.

THE SPIRIT OF

76

by JOHN CLINTON

They were tired and hot from driving all day when they rolled into Fresno—dad, mom and junior on their vacation auto trip. First problem was food—second, to get the car "fixed up" for an early start in the morning. As it happens, they drove into a Union Oil station.

The Minute Men told them to leave the car and go on to dinner across the street—that when they got back, it'd be ready. And this is what happened.

The Minute Men cleaned the glass of junior's finger prints, cleaned out the interior, checked the tires, radiator, battery, gas and oil. Then they began tinkering around... a drop of oil on a sticking choke button... another on the accelerator pedal. Then they fixed up a worn windshield-wiper, etc., etc.

When the folks got back, the Minute Men gave them up-to-date maps, a bunch of natural-color photographic postcards, and suggested two or three good auto-camps and hotels.

Now the point is—not so much what the Minute Men did but how they did it. As the man wrote to me: "They made me feel, somehow, that I was not only welcome, but actually a pretty important customer..."

If you're motoring this summer, you can add a lot to your pleasure and satisfaction—just by patronizing the Union Oil stations and their friendly Minute Men who are up and down the west coast. If you want high speed, but no high pressure—well just sample the station nearest your home.

GRANGE NOTES

Pomona Grange
Pomona Grange Master Harvey Jameson of Plymouth is urging every stockman in El Orado County to voice their opposition to a bill now pending in Congress.

This is S 1199 which, if it becomes the law will prevent packers from purchasing livestock direct from the producers.

This is a matter of great importance to growers for it can be readily seen that any place whereby growers are prevented from selling direct will naturally mean a lower income to producers.

The El Dorado-Amador Pomona Grange and many of the subordinate Grangers are joining other farm groups in an expression of their opposition to the bill by writing to their representatives in Congress, Senator Downey and H. L. Englebright are being appealed to by the Pomona Grange.

This is one of a series of illustrated articles designed to inform the public of the progress being made by American industry in providing the weapons for national defense. The facts presented have been gathered in surveys of leading defense industries and from other authoritative sources.

The humming city of Detroit with its 400,000 factory workers and its annual industrial payroll of some $650,000,000 is the automobile center of the world but it draws the component units that go into the finished products from all parts of the country.

Naturally, this industry already was geared to turn out trucks for America's mechanized army when the call for all-out defense production was issued last Summer. Production of army trucks got under way at an early date.

But the industry was able to increase the tempo of truck output by utilizing parts and assembly parts scattered all over the country.

A survey of 11 plants of one automobile company revealed that they were purchasing parts and materials (for many important defense units, including trucks in some 200 communities located in 21 states. One division alone is obtaining defense parts from 83 outside suppliers and purchases raw materials from 37 others.

One motor firm has 11 final assembly plants for these U. S. Army trucks in widely scattered cities.

It is American industry—big and small and located in every section of the country—that is making possible the never-ending output of defense equipment in the great automobile center.

It is American industry as a whole that is succeeding today in making this country the Arsenal of Democracy.

CALIFORNIA FARM PARADE

The agriculture department urges poultrymen to hold on to their pullets and hens, and keep them laying for defense.

Prices for chickens have been high—and some poultrymen may be tempted to sell their layers. But for the rest of the year, prices received by farmers for chickens are expected to continue higher than a year earlier. So poultrymen can hold onto their layers, get good prices for the extra eggs, and still expect to sell their birds for favorable prices later on.

Agricultural defense officials held a big conference the other day to discuss progress of the food-for-Britain program. And after surveying the entire picture, the officials reached these conclusions:

Egg production is being increased sufficiently to supply British needs, and to furnish the United States with as many eggs as we've ever eaten in any one year.

There is a well-founded hope that milk production will increase enough to supply Britain's needs for dairy products and at the same time enable the United States to continue consumption at average levels.

Production of canned tomatoes is being increased substantially, and the production of dry edible beans of the white varieties is being increased 35 per cent.

Pork supplies should be larger than the average of recent years. Hogs being marketed are heavier than average.

More vegetable oils will be available because of special programs for

EL CENTRO TEACHER DIED SATURDAY NIGHT AT MECK'S BAY

John Wesley Cook, 48, El Centro school teacher, died Saturday night at Meek's Bay resort.

Mr. Cook had been a regular visitor at Meek's Bay the past twenty-two years, apparently teaching school during the school year and spending his vacations in resort employment.

This year he had been working in the store at the resort and Saturday evening appeared to be in his usual state of health when he retired. During the night he awakened his wife and complained of not feeling well and asked for a drink of water, which she sought for him. He was dying when she returned.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son and a daughter. The body was removed to Truckee to be sent from there to El Centro for funeral services and interment.

Around The House

WITH ANN COMFORT

If you like a cheese flavor, sprinkle grated cheese over the top of escalloped chicken or chicken pot pie during the last 15 minutes of baking.

On the Sunol Road in eastern Alameda county, a road used in Mission days and used in Gold Rush days when all roads led to Hangtown and to the Digings, under the shadow of a giant oak stands the little Francisco Alviso adobe built in 1846. Francisco Alviso was the major domo of the vast Santa Rita Rancho. This adobe has lost none of its traditional air of hospitality as today it is the club and dining room of the men of the Meadowlark Dairy. The sound of laughter and happy living is still to be heard from the low doorways (the Alvisos must have been short men as these doorways are exceptionally low). The thick white walls of the living room are painted white, the woodwork a bright sea-blue. A beautifully-proportioned archway at the south entrance of the long porch must have made an ideal setting for the charms of a lovely senorita.

On the sloping eastern hillside are three old oaks beneath which treasures were said to have been buried. Locust trees surround the courtyard, scene of many a gay fiesta for hospitality was the watchword of the Alvisos. There were no weekend limitations for guests.

When the host greeted them with the customary phrase "La casa esta suya" (the house is yours) he really meant it. But housekeeping wasn't on the budget system in those days. There was always meat for the pot, wine for the cup, wild game in abundance, and Indian servants to do the work.

Cooking was never done in the adobe proper but out of doors. Frijoles, tortillas and chile were favorites in the olden days but today Mrs. Robert Dana of the Meadowlark Dairy tells me the boys are very fond of:

Roller Oat Cookies
1 cup granulated sugar, 1 cup of brown sugar, 1 cup salad oil or use melted shortening, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon of soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 2 eggs, 1 cup nut meats, 2 1/2 cups rolled oats, 1/2 cup sweet milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder.

Add sufficient flour to make a decidedly stiff mixture. Drop from teaspoon on well oiled pan. Bake in moderate oven.

You can call these Meadowlark cookies or Alviso cookies. With fresh fruit, they make an ideal dessert for summer days.

What type of old houses interest our readers? Do you suffer from that peculiar malady—a nostalgia for the glamor of old days. When you see an old house do you wonder about the people who live in it, about their joys and sorrows and about the ordinary, everyday living pertaining to furniture and cookery? Or do you prefer the shiny brightness of new houses? Speaking of new ones, I saw a "Dream House" at a recent Modern Homes Exposition which featured mahogany furniture, no draperies but long beige-colored curtains of casement cloth and beige-rose carpets.

Against this neutral and restful background bright flower-arrangements and vivid pieces of glass and pottery were placed to advantage. Agalite tiles were used in the bathroom. The linoleum in the blue and white had been soil-proofed for easy cleaning.

To Katherine Kerry of the practical kitchen chats we are indebted for use of left over egg yolks. "If there is a lonesome looking thing in the world," says Miss Kerry, "it is a poor neglected, left-over egg yolk." She suggests that left over egg yolks be put to the following uses:

One Yolk Mayonnaise
One egg yolk, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/4 teaspoon cayenne, 1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice, 1 cup salad or olive oil. Combine egg yolk seasoning and vinegar. Add 1 tablespoon of oil and beat with a rotary beater until oil and egg are thoroughly mixed. Continue adding oil, beating in a small amount at a time until mayonnaise begins to stiffen, remaining oil may be added 2 tablespoons at a time.

Chocolate Frosting
2 egg yolks, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 3 squares melted bitter chocolate, 1 cup powdered sugar, 1/4 cup milk, 1 tablespoon butter, few grains salt. Combine ingredients and beat with a rotary egg beater until well blended. Set bowl in pan of ice water and beat until thick enough to spread—3 to 5 minutes.

Quick Cup Cakes
Have these baking while you are making the frosting given above. In this recipe, we are reversing the problem . . . this answers the question of what to do with left-over egg whites.

1/2 cup of soft shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 egg whites, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 cup milk.

Put all ingredients in a bowl in order given and beat all vigorously for 2 minutes. Bake in greased muffin tins in 375 degree oven for about 25 minutes or until done.

The national organization of Republican women "Pro America" quoted to its members recently a sentence from one of Lincoln's addresses which is especially apt in this day of momentous decisions. By the decision made, "We shall meanly lose or nobly save this last best hope on earth."

What Irvin Cobb says about giving to the USO bears repeating:—"When you give to the USO," he said, "don't feel you are graciously bestowing benefits on our young men, but on yourself and your sense of honor."

Make Your Picnic a Party

For a picnic your family and guests will long remember, give it a "party atmosphere" by the careful planning you accord more formal affairs. Plenty of cold bottles of carbonated beverages will quench the exceptional thirsts characteristic of picnic crowds and please everybody. Suggested are a mixed vegetable salad, fresh fruit and a sandwich cake "iced" with cream cheese. Make the cake by slicing bread lengthwise and spreading tempting fillings between the layers.

OLDER'N METHUSELAH!

CAMERA MAN USED 40-FOOT TOWER TO GET PROPER PERSPECTIVE IN PICTURE OF FAMED GENERAL SHERMAN TREE

In going out to photograph the world's highest living thing, take along a forty-foot tower! That's just what ingenious Mike Roberts, noted scenic photographer, Oakland, did in getting a close-up shot of the General Sherman tree in Sequoia National Park.

The photograph, obtained by such a method, now takes an honored position in the Standard Oil Company of California 1941 collection of scenic views of the West. These views are now being distributed by Standard Service men to the public.

"Getting an undistorted and all-inclusive close-up of this ageless Sequoia Gigantea at first seemed an impossibility," said Roberts. "Then I conceived the idea of trucking in and setting up a sectional steel scaffolding, forty feet high.

"Even then the widest angled lenses obtainable would not take in the tremendous size, 274 feet high and 102 feet in girth. I punched a pin hole in a piece of black paper and clamped it in front of the shutter. With the sun shining fully on the tree, I got the exposure."

To obtain four prints of Hawaii for the Standard Oil collection, Mr. Roberts traveled 7,000 miles by car, plane and boat, and shot 500 photographs. Ever resourceful, he took a truck load of movie flood lamps to New Mexico to make the first successful photographs ever made of Carlsbad Caverns in color.

The natural color photographs in the Standard Oil Company collection were assembled from 7,000 negatives taken by clever amateur and renowned professional photographers. They are being distributed by Standard Service Men throughout the west on a two-weeks rotating plan in ninety-one zones. This means that a motorist, even on a short

WEST PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OR ISSUING A WORTHLESS CHECK

Kenneth P. West, arrested seventy six days ago on a charge of issuing a worthless check, pleaded guilty to the charge in Superior Court Monday morning and the court set Thursday at ten o'clock in the morning as the time for passing sentence.

West had previously pleaded not guilty on four counts, and changed his plea to one of guilty after it was indicated that three of the counts might be dismissed.

The three counts were dismissed after the guilty plea was entered to the first count.

It was understood that West admits the issuance of a worthless check, but will endeavor to convince the court of a probable absence of felonious intent when he appears for sentencing.
